Recalling Missisquoi Falls is a fanfare and chorale dedicated to the memory of Bea Phillips, one of the warmest and most generous of Vermont’s composers. Bea spent most of her career as a teacher, taking up composition once again in her sixties. She lived in the Northeast Kingdom of Vermont, where she wrote her best-known composition, Missisquoi Falls. Bea died in 2005.

Recalling Missisquoi Falls was written for the Green Mountain Horn Club.
