

Godzilla: The Early Years

When he was a young pup, Godzilla got along well with mankind, particularly children, with whom he often shared play dates. But as he matured, he found it harder and harder to curb his monstrous tendencies. It all came to a head one day when he was playing tag with little Johnny Bumpkins. Johnny liked to roughhouse, and instead of tagging Godzilla, he tackled the he-monster and pushed his maw into the dirt. Ooo, bad move. Godzilla responded with a blast from his atomic breath, which instantly turned Johnny into a sizzling shegetz-kebab. Worse, the fires of Godzilla's latent bloodlust were finally stoked and ... and the rest, you probably know.