

The Flatusophonist

Many people look at the flatusophone and assume it's a snap to play. "But they would be wrong!" declared Claire Dinklaker, principle flatusophonist of the Northern Norwegian Symphony Orchestra. She wanted to add that it takes lots of practice plus good abdominal muscle control to master the instrument but couldn't because she was busy rehearsing her part in the new production of "Die Meistersinger von Borborygmus."