

Larry + Enid

Enid was desperate to learn how to dance, but she steadfastly refused to pay the outrageous sum of six bucks an hour for lessons at the Arthur Murray Dance Studio. That's why she wound up at the dollar-a-day Dinklaker School of Terpsichore paired with a passive-aggressive crustacean named Larry, whose only interest in the jitterbug was to try to eat it.