

Be careful what you wish for

Bernard was a horrid little child, always whining about one thing or throwing a tantrum over another. One day as a diversion, his long-suffering mother took him to Dinklaker's Candy Shoppe for a nougat. But when the crumbsnatcher saw the rows and rows of sweet treats on display, he cried for more. "I want an all-day sucker, I want an all-day sucker, wahhhh!" he bawled. All of a sudden, Bernard found himself halfway across town in the Werner Cantwell Aquarium's Carnivorous Marine Mollusk Room. It was dark and he was all alone, except for ... well, too late the lad learned that it paid to be careful what you wished for.
